The prestigious list of the world's TOP 2% influential scientists has been released by analysts from Stanford University, Elsevier Publishing and SciTech Strategies. Stanford University experts led by Professor John P.A. Ioannidis prepared this analysis based on Scopus data provided by Elsevier through ICSR Lab.

The list covered almost 200,000 scientists from 22 scientific disciplines divided into 176 sub-fields, including 14 scientists from 6 disciplines working in Azerbaijan scientific centers. This year, two different list of the ranking were published: the Career-long scientific output until 2022 was in first list, and the second list included the citation ranking for single 2022 year data.

Deputy director for oil and gas production, Prof., Doctor, Corresponding Member of ANAS Suleimanov Baghir and Head of Laboratory of Analytical Research, Doctor Veliyev Elchin from «Oil GasScientificResearchProject» Institute, SOCAR are the ones whose names were chosen to be in the Top 2% Scientists list, which includes scientific output for the entire period of professional work until 2022. Both of them are in Top 3 among Azerbaijani scientists who are in this ranking. In 2021 the Top 2% Scientists list including 6 scientists from Azerbaijan scientific centers and Suleimanov Baghir was in Top 2 among Azerbaijani scientists who are in this ranking.

During preparation of this list, the entire scientific output of researchers according to a bibliometric index, including criteria such as citations, h-index, co-authorship adjusted hm-index, citations to papers in different authorship positions and a composite indicator (c-score) were evaluated.

We congratulate to Founding Editor Suleimanov Baghir and Member of Editorial Board Veliyev Elchin.
